Harmony ... Seeking, Being, Living It

Rev Trish Hall

It's probably a good idea to come to a common understanding of what harmony is before attempting to live in it .. as it!. So what is "harmony"? We encounter the term in almost every area of live. Our human propensity to seek harmony is embedded in art, music, physiology, psychology and spirituality. Intuitively we are drawn to harmony because Spirit IS ultimate harmony. We are being called home to harmony. A conundrum occurs only when we are looking outwardly for the means to achieve what is already within our nature. Disharmony is experienced when we go looking outside for what we sense is missing inside. Sometimes the simple act of seeking something from the outside can cause us to feel that it is missing within us. When we open to and reveal our true nature, our nature expresses more fully and we feel fulfilled. So often we define some thing or experience by what it is not. Harmony seems to be one of those aspects of life that are most noticed in their absence. So what is "harmony"?

The dictionary defines harmony as a consistent, orderly, or pleasing arrangement of parts - congruence. It relates it to music - the simultaneous combination of tones, especially when blended into chords pleasing to the ear, distinguishing chordal structure from melody and rhythm. Harmony in art and visual presents itself when all parts of the visual image and sounds relate to and complement each other ... when all the elements are working together, harmony results. The consciousness of the artist or musician calls the elements into play so they can relate to themselves and one another. This consciousness does not resist dissonance, disorder or the appearance of chaos. Rather it invites it in so that by contrast, harmony can be more expansively experienced. This consciousness leans into apparent discord instead of pulling away, intuitively knowing that something even more beautiful will emerge because of the faith that divine principle - Divine Creativity - is presenting It-self.

Living in harmony can mean many things on different levels. It can mean living in harmony with Nature and our surroundings. It can mean living in harmony with our family, friends and community without conflict. It can mean hearing the beauty of a symphony and its musical harmony. And then there are the more obtuse aspects of harmony, one of which evidenced recently for me. I am in the process of buying a house. I've been looking at houses for a couple years now - probably 1000s online and a 100 in person, but never found one that "spoke" to me - until a week ago. Of course, I said "this or something better God, easy and effortless." Living in harmony was being able to see the house when I wanted, despite what the realtor said were difficult sellers; them countering back less than I thought they would and being accommodating; having the loan go through easily and effortlessly; the house inspector said he had never seen a house this perfect (1840s). How do I know that it's mine? Because I loved it from the 1st minute I saw it and the process has been wildly easy and effortless. I am congruent and in harmony with the vibration of that house, and it with me. We can feel those harmonies in any aspect of our lives, if we are quiet and listen to the still, small voice within and then follow it. Relax! Allow yourself to experience the harmonies in your life, name them and be grateful for their gifts. Life goes better with harmony.

June Theme: “Living in Harmony”

As we approach this inquiry into the theme of Living in Harmony in your life, you may discover that everything will become a teacher for you. You will begin to discover examples of harmony, choice points and opportunities to engage in the practice of balance and harmony utilizing the rhythms of your breath and pulse, in the rising and the setting of the sun, in the cycles of change that weave birth and death, winter and summer, activity and rest, work and play, alone time and time with others into the wholeness of your life. Viewed in this way your whole life becomes a wonderland in which the on-going inquiry into the nature of harmony unfolds. We will have ample opportunities to practice living consciously.

Harmony is the full expression of G-d as the natural balance of all things created, and yet to be created. It is the ebb and flow of life, when all the equal and seemingly opposing forces achieve that perfect equilibrium. Harmony isn't a static state, but rather an easy flow that comes when we are aligned with the Oneness of all that is, achieved through awareness, prayer, and meditation. Through our spiritual practices we release the cause behind any dissonance, moving into the dynamic flow of life, experiencing harmony with the spiritual, emotional, and physical aspects of life.

Each of the members of the Council, as well as each of our loving supporters and members, has an opportunity to bring their talents and gifts to creating the natural balance of our Center. This balance extends beyond sharing our spiritual practice together each Sunday. In my view as your Treasurer, I am particularly aware of maintaining the equilibrium of expenses and income so that you, our members, are uplifted and supported in your spiritual journey. Harmony is fully expressed in the orchestration of the many moving parts of the Center - beyond financial management - including member outreach, visibility, event planning, choir practice, and so many more activities - all perfectly synchronized to create this spiritual home. Each of us has an opportunity to contribute. Won't you 'harmonize' with us? What part do you want to play?

June is Gay Pride Month

Gay pride (LGBT pride) is a positive stance against discrimination and violence toward lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender people. "Pride" promotes self-affirmation, dignity, equal rights and increased visibility as a social group. It recognizes the wonderful uniqueness of individuals of all orientations. Pride, as opposed to shame and social stigma, bolsters most LGBT rights movements throughout the world.

The month of June was chosen for LGBT Pride Month to commemorate the Stonewall riots, which occurred at the end of June 1969. As a result, many pride events are held during this month to acknowledge the positive impact LGBT people have had in the world. Celebration Center is a proud member of People of Faith for Equality in Virginia. Rev Trish will be one of the presenters at both the Interfaith Pride Worship Service in Washington DC and Northern Virginia.

Compassionate Listening—to Others and Ourselves

The urge to help or fix a problem can be so strong that sometimes we rush over the step of just being present to what is. Marshall Rosenberg's Non-Violent (aka Compassionate) Communication teaches us to pause and be present.

A group facilitated by Teri Murphy and Rev. Faith Woods got a taste of this practice last month. Now the group is beginning a six week cycle to expand the learning. They are using a format developed by Rev. Katherine Revoir at the Center for Richer Living in Mill Valley, California. This format minimizes the lesson portion so most of the time goes to practice. And the main practice is simply listening and reporting back the observations, needs, feelings, and requests that we hear. Listening in this way builds our ability to discern our own observations, needs, feelings, and requests when we are stressed.

If you are interested in being part of this powerful experience, please contact Teri Murphy at 703 524-4438. Gifts of gratitude are welcomed.

Join us Sundays at 1:30—June 8, 15, 22 (but not 29) and July 13, 20, 27 (but not 6)

Living in Harmony

... Rich Kurasiewicz, RScP

What does that mean to you? Are you in harmony, especially after being cut off by a driver on the Beltway? Are you in harmony at home, work or in quiet time? It might help to understand just by knowing how Ernest Holmes defined it: “Concord or agreement in facts, opinions, manners, interests, etc. The secret of all progress is getting into right relationship with the Universal ... in tune with the Infinite.” In tune with Infinite Order is harmony. Contacting Infinite Intelligence, recognizing the Father within, accepting the underlying laws of Creation and moving in Its mighty rhythm, is harmony. Such harmony adjusts our affairs and enriches our lives. (Science of Mind, p. 597.3)

In other words, living in harmony is an inside job. We create our experiences and our reality and choose not to be reactive to external form or effect. We get to choose. How do we do that? We do this through spiritual practices (meditation, affirmative prayer, affirmations, visioning, etc.) and through faith that the Truth will set us free. What is the Truth? God is all there is—the entire Universe is made up of God Stuff or Spiritual Substance and you are, too! We all are Divine and God Substance!

Now, when we take the time to go within or just commune with Nature, we begin to realize that everything is already perfect, whole and complete and working in perfect divine order and harmony—otherwise there would be incredible chaos. When we choose to connect within, in the secret place of the Most High, we can sense this harmony and the peace that passeth all understanding. We come to realize that there is only One Life and that Life is God’s Life—God is the Creator and the Creation and we are all created in the spiritual image and likeness of God. Each and everyone is a unique, individualized expression of the Divine and the activity of God as Love in the world.

We can practice the presence of God to know that we are One with the Universe and a co-Creator. The gift—life and more life—has already been made because it is God’s good pleasure to give us the Kingdom and all we need to do is accept it through Faith! Once each and everyone is free of the illusion of carnal mind (or race consciousness) and in union with Spirit, knowing that underneath are the everlasting arms, we can go forth in confidence and assurance, faith, trust and belief in the Truth. First of all, we are at Peace and in harmony within and without—it is all God or Spirit. Second, as we change from within, the world around us changes as it responds to the change. Because we are all One and interconnected and interdependent in the One Mind of the Living Spirit Almighty, we have an impact on others—they experience more peace and harmony!

That is the good news and it does not mean that our work is done! As a Spiritual being having a human experience in a spiritual Universe, each and everyone is subject to the world of effect, carnal mind or race consciousness, fear, lack and limitation. What can we do about that? Practice and I say again, practice. The more we practice the Presence, spiritual practices, faith, forgiveness (self and others), the easier it becomes to re-connect and realize the Truth that sets us free. We start each day anew and can begin it with the intention to live a life of harmony--living in the flow. The choice is ours and it is most worthwhile to say “yes” to Life—change your thinking, change your life! And so it is!

When: 6:30 PM every 4th Sunday

From Page 1 Congruence is one of our guiding principles. It is the state or quality of agreeing, coinciding, being in harmony. Our guiding principle relate to our individual integrity. Individual congruency addresses whether our thoughts, words and deeds align with our spiritual tenets. For example, is our faith consistent and have we built beliefs that support us in living our faith, not just talking about it.

When we are in harmony within ourselves, we open to the commonalities we share with other expressions of the Divine, positioning us to embrace all of creation in a rich full experience of Oneness. When I think about Oneness, the concept is interesting, intriguing, fascinating. When I stop thinking and enter into a state of harmony within my being I have a numinous experience of Oneness. I grasp inseparability in ways far beyond my human ability to reason. I know with no need for authentication, I am one with Creation - all of it. As I awaken to what I am and what my awakening calls me to be in the world, my understanding of Oneness and Harmony expand. Having found harmony within myself, I now “get it!” ... that harmony is mine to create in my relationship with my communities and my world. The dance of harmony evokes my sense of responsibility for the wellbeing of all of creation.

One of the “dangers” of thinking is that we are more easily influenced by the opinions of others and are more likely to give credence to past experiences that can limit our ability to be fully present in the present moment. At all times, it is essential that we establish a consciousness equal to our desired experience, otherwise, it won’t be sustainable. We must create it and maintain it without external evidence.

Eric Butterworth in In the Flow of Life, stated, “There is a flow of harmony and love everywhere, whether you are aware of it or not, and whether you are consciously moving in it or not. This is what the “omnipresence of God” means. You do not leave the presence of God or the flow of life and love when you are negative or resistant. You leave the consciousness of the Presence. But you are in the flow and the flow is in you every moment in every experience.”

So how are you to live in harmony? It is up to you to consciously engage in the dynamic interplay of inner and outer forces. Within you and around you a myriad of strong and subtle forces dance together in a movement of constant change. You get to choose to observe, discern, lean into apparent chaos in utter faith that harmony is the natural result. You get to ride the turbulence, celebrating the way Life shows up and by your consciousness birth new, ever-expanding harmony.
